At-Home Companionship Care

Everyone needs someone, particularly as we get older and have more difficulty coping with being alone or keeping up with daily responsibilities. Numerous factors can contribute to loneliness, which is becoming a bigger problem in our senior populations. Be it the inability to visit loved ones as frequently as we'd like or the difficulty adjusting to life after the unexpected death of a partner.

You can count on our carers to give you the company you require with our standard live-in care and assistance. Having a companion to chat with, listen to music with, assist with shopping, or help you keep meetings.

Support for personal or medical needs is not a focus of companionship; rather, it emphasises the social component of care. The Carer will quickly become a dependable and amiable part of your day.

Live in Care Tailored to your needs

When you or a loved one is having difficulty adjusting to life without assistance, live-in care offered by Schreiber Care UK is a well-liked substitute for care homes. Our Schreiber carers will reside in your home, enabling you to maintain all the creature comforts and a stable sense of normalcy.

Schreiber Care UK will assess your support needs and offer the appropriate carer whether it is centred on dementia care, post-operative rehabilitation, age related diseases or End of Life Care. Each Schreiber Care UK carer is dedicated to offering a live-in care and support service that is individualised and catered to your specific requirements. You will receive assistance so that you can continue to live in your own familiar surroundings, stay in touch with friends and family, follow your normal routines, and keep pets if you so choose.

We can relate to the difficulty experienced when watching a loved one deal with a terminal disease in the course of their daily lives because we have lived that experience ourselves. Our committed Schreiber carers will be there for you and stay by your side to provide professional, compassionate care that will free you and your family to live the best lives possible.

Our Story

In 2012, when Lovia's only daughter, Liesel Angel, tragically passed away from Neuroblastoma Stage IV Paediatric cancer, Lovia knew she had to do something to support families of cancer-stricken children, so she founded The Liesel Angel Trust Children's Cancer Charity. The Charity provides practical assistance to children with illness and their families. Lovia devoted her life to assisting others in addition to her role as a supply SEN teacher. Lovia enrolled in an MBA Healthcare programme at Anglia Ruskin University in 2018, and shortly after graduating, her mother became gravely unwell. Lovia provided her cherished mother with personal care until her passing in March 2019. Lovia founded Schreiber Care UK, a home care service with a personal touch and professional academic backings, because she had personal experience caring for family members. It was established with the intention of providing comprehensive Home Care and Elder Services; a service model that replicates individualised home care and geriatric services in which staff provide dependable, responsive care and protect all of our service users.

Schreiber Care UK conducts all assessments in collaboration with other professionals and in complete communication with the client to determine the latter's precise requirements. Our culture of excellence is reflected in the services we provide at Schreiber Care UK.
